HINTON W.Va. (Hinton News) - On a chilly November night, some of Summers County's finest emergency responders met on the basketball court for a battle of the badges.

Deemed Hose Draggers (firefighters) versus Donut Eaters (police), participants from area volunteer fire departments and local branches of law enforcement battled it out to raise money for the Shop with a Cop program. This program gives Christmas gifts to kids who might not otherwise have any. Entry was free but donations were accepted with Hinton Hope Foundation matching donations dollar for dollar up to $750. Additionally, Safe and Sound Security donated $1000. In all, over $3000 was raised for this amazing program. Many laughs were shared during the night including when, at half-time, the police brought out DUI simulation goggles and let both sides try to make a shot while wearing them. While nobody succeeded, it was a crowd favorite watching the attempts.

The kids in the audience wanted in on the action so Sheriff Faris offered a cash reward to the first youth able to make a shot. Young Mr. Hartwell was the first to take the prize by sinking a basket. To keep up the spirit of the night, the Sheriff offered another cash prize to the next kid to sink a basket. A young girl, whose name we have not been able to confirm at the time of publishing, took that prize and a happier victor has never been seen.

The game itself started out strong for the Hose Draggers with the first score of the night, but victory wasn't to be theirs. The Donut Eaters kept a strong lead all evening that brought them to a sound victory. However, in this game, the kids in the Shop with a Cop program were the real winners.

Also on hand during the night was Summers County EMS. Playing along with the theme of the night, they provided law enforcement rehab, which consisted of donuts and the ambulance stretcher was marked especially for Sheriff Faris. As always, Summers County EMS showed how valuable they are when one of the Hose Draggers got hurt and had to be taken to the hospital for a leg injury.

Despite the injury, it appeared everyone enjoyed the night and the best part was the amount raised for the Shop with a Cop program. There's been talk this will be a yearly event, which would be wonderful. Here's to a successful first year of a great event.

American Legion Post 145 Spotlight: Danny Lively

A lifetime of service is what best summarizes Danny Lively.

Danny started life in Greenville, West Virginia, grew up in Miami, Florida, and spent most of his working life in or near Peterstown, West Virginia. His life has been one of service to his country and his community - including some 24 years with the Peterstown Rowe-Jones American Legion Post 145. About 20 of those years as post adjutant.

He joined the Air Force in his early 20s, served as a crew chief on a C-130, and traveled the world during his four years of military service.

"A C-130 is a work horse, used for transporting cargo and troops" he explained.

As a crew chief, he oversaw the maintenance of the aircraft. "I spent most of my time with one plane, but got to work on a number of different C-130's."

Danny traveled to every continent on earth:

Europe, Southeast Asia - including Vietnam, and Africa. "The only two continents I did not get to see were Australia and Antarctica," he said.

It was his experience maintaining aircraft that put him in the world of mechanics following his honorable discharge from the Air Force.

"After my discharge, my first job was as a mechanic at "Monroe Motors," a Ford garage in Union that has since closed its doors. Fixing cars is totally different than fixing a C-130, but I guess it was my mechanic's background that helped me get that job," he said.

But it was the pleasure that Danny received when working with youth that took him away from the world of mechanics for good and into a new phase in his life. He changed jobs to become a school bus driver which led to his interest in education and two college degrees: a bachelor's degree in education and a master's degree in education administration.

One thing led to another and to where he is now.

His degrees steered him to becoming a teacher and then a job as both a teacher and a principal at the Ballard Elementary School (now closed). He later went to the Peterstown Elementary School.

Then it just so happened that Monroe County was having its Spelling Bee contest; Danny was a member of the Spelling Bee contest and so was a young lady named Linda - nowadays known as Mrs. Lively. They now have four adult children and eight grandchildren, after 35 years of marriage.

Toward the end of his teaching career, Danny got a real estate license. "I sold several houses working part-time," he said.

When Danny joined the Peterstown Rowe-Jones American Legion Post 145, the post had about a dozen members, Danny explained.

"I liked the camaraderie, and being with others who had similar experiences," he said. "We often rib each other about the military branches. And I enjoy having a support group - when I need help with personal things I know I could ask my friends at Post 145 and I would get it."

"And I helped when others needed help - it was, and still is, a two-way street," he noted.

"We all have something in common. We consider community service to be important and have always been involved with such things as awarding scholarships ... and candy when the occasion calls for it."

Shortly after joining Post 145, he learned that the post needed an "adjutant."

"I didn't even know what an adjutant was," he said. He was "volunteered" for the position and remained the adjutant for the next approximately 24 years.

Danny Lively

"The job generally was to keep everything in order, including the finances; it was like being an accountant.

But I had a good support base - named Linda - that helped me through it all," he said.

The Post at one time performed a flag ceremony at local school football games but eventually passed over this job to a younger generation belonging to the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

"The post continues to have a high priority on community service," he said.

In addition to attending monthly Post 145 meetings and activities, Danny likes to attend to landscaping around his Peterstown home and gardening.

"If I had to do it over again, I would do it," he said.

A Peek into Summers County's Past: Centennial Coin

William Jones

SUMMERS COUNTY W.Va. (Hinton News) - This week's piece is Summers County related yes, but has West Virginia in general significance. West Virginia was formed on July 20, 1863. Its Centennial occurred on July 20, 1963. Well, that was the official day of it but the celebration was not just on that date.

Festivities took place all year in 1963 which included plays, music events, and traveling exhibits to name a few ways in which the state celebrated. These activities occurred in all 55 counties and numerous towns within them in West Virginia.

Summers County and the town of Hinton were no exception. Each county had its own centennial celebration committee. The gold coin you see here was one way our corner of the state participated in the numerous events going on around the state.

The front of the coin has the Bluestone Dam on it, Summers County's most famous asset within West Virginia. On the reverse, it says "Souvenir Money Redeemable for 50 cents in Trade by the Summers County Centennial Committee on or before Sept. 3, 1963. Not to be used in lieu of lawful money in the United States."

This is one of the only pieces I have ever found from Summers County's involvement in the centennial celebration. The way I acquired this little piece of history is kind of funny. As I have said before I collect antiques and have since I was 10 years old, having gone to my first auction in Pence Springs in 1997.

I had bought an ancushion.

The first thing I thought was, "yes a gold coin!" When I bent over to pick it up to examine my newfound wealth, haha, I discovered it in fact was not a gold coin. But rather this Sum-it was real gold, but excited nonetheless since it was a piece of local history I had never seen before.

What Are You Willing To Let Keep You Out Of Heaven?

(Part 1)

by David Padfield

"Do not love the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world—the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life—is not of the Father but is of the world. And the world is passing away, and the lust of it; but he who does the will of God abides forever" (1 John 2:15-17)

During December, many people who are otherwise irreligious or unconcerned about spiritual things will turn their thoughts to a Child born in Bethlehem over 2,000 years ago. They will often read the story of the birth of Christ with their children, and maybe even teach them the words of some of the beautiful songs that speak of the birth of our Lord. They will pause in front of a nativity scene somewhere and maybe even whisper a fleeting prayer. Some will darken the door of a church building for the first time since last December.

I view such events as these with mixed emotions. While God has never commanded people today to observe a special day to commemorate the birth of His Son, I am glad these folks have at least some recognition of a God in heaven who demands their attention. However, I am saddened by the fact that most of these people will never come to know and appreciate the rest of the story! While the entrance of God's Son into the world was incredible, it is only the tip of the iceberg—it is only one part, one chapter, of what God has done to redeem mankind.

Those who can only think of Jesus Christ as a Babe in Bethlehem are robbing themselves of the blessings that await them in Christ (Eph. 1:3). The entrance of God's Son into the world was a matter of planning and prophecy, not a matter of mere chance. The first glimpse of a Savior was given in Genesis 3:15, after Adam and Eve sinned and were about to be cast out of the Garden of Eden. Centuries later, God told Abraham that through his seed "all the families of the earth shall be blessed" (Gen. 12:3).

Centuries passed until God told David, a descendant of Abraham, that the Messiah would come through his lineage, and God "would raise up the Christ to sit on his throne" (Acts 2:30). Nearly another millennium passed until the time was just right, then "when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, born of a woman, born under the law, to redeem those who were under the law..." (Gal. 4:4-5).

Matthew records the birth of Christ in the first chapter of his gospel, and informs us that "all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: 'Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel,' which is translated, 'God with us'" (Matt. 1:22-23; cf. Isa. 7:14).

Hinton's annual Christmas Walk is Dec. 14

HINTON W.Va. (Hinton News) - This year's Christmas Walk will be held on Saturday, Dec. 14 starting at 6 p.m. at Ascension Episcopal Church. Ascension is located at the corner of Temple and 5th Ave, directly across from the old middle school.

Christmas is a glorious and beautiful time of the year. It's a time for coming together and living out those great commandments to love God and to love our neighbors. The Christmas walk is about just that, gathering in love with others to celebrate God's goodness.

It is a story made of truth and imagination, tradition and expectation. The focus of this year's walk is 'Light in the Darkness'. Even in the darkness with the problems we face today, that light shines through.

We will visit six beautiful downtown churches, steeped in history and mystery. A part of that mystery is that even though we have different beliefs and ideas, we come together in love. And that makes it beautiful.

Most of these churches were formed in the late 1800s, during Hinton's heyday. For about 150 years they have clung to the truth that comes from God. The architecture is awe-inspiring, especially as they are decked out for the coming Christmas celebration.

After visiting these churches, we will gather in the space next to the First Methodist Church for warm drinks, snacks and renewing old friendships.

Come and be a part of this annual celebration of Christmas. It's a most wonderful time of the year, as we remember the light that always, always shines.

Dear Recycle Lady

Dear Recycle Lady,

We are getting ready to decorate for Christmas and I have found several strings of older non-LED and LED Christmas lights that are missing bulbs, are all tangled up or don't work anymore. Can they be recycled? Lights That Sparkle

Dear Lights That Sparkle,

Yes, all Christmas lights, regardless of condition, can be recycled as the copper within the cords has value. Take them to the Recycling Center and put them in the yellow bin that sits on the porch near the sign that says Aluminum. Lowes also recycles Christmas lights just inside the entrance door where returns are processed.

Dear Recycle Lady,

This year I am trying to wrap all my gifts in recyclable wrapping paper as I want to be more aware of the environment and waste. Does this wrapping paper go in the newspaper or magazine bin? Gift Wrapper

Dear Gift Wrapper,

Kudos for being aware of waste and the environment. If more people paid attention, we would have a healthier environment and less waste. Unfortunately, it is impossible to distinguish recyclable wrapping paper from plain wrapping paper, so the local recycling center is unable to recycle any wrapping paper. With care, your wrapping paper can be rolled on a cardboard tube or folded and reused next year. If your recyclable wrapping paper is biodegradable, or a hemp-blend, it can be added to your compost pile or bin. Have you tried using alternatives to commercial wrapping paper such as decorative tin boxes, reusable shopping bags, cloth bags, tablecloths, kitchen towels, or a decorative basket? Newspapers, especially the comics page, can also be used to wrap gifts and they are totally recyclable.

Dear Readers,

Happy Turkey Day! Here's wishing everyone a day with family, friends, good conversations, and good food. Hopefully, your Thanksgiving dinner this year will also be good for the environment. Using reusable dishes, eating utensils, and cloth tablecloths and napkins all save on landfill space. If you must use disposables, please purchase 100% recycled or compostable plates, cups, napkins, and utensils. (Kroger and Walmart both have them.) Cleaning recyclable aluminum foil, trays and pans used for baking turkeys or casseroles can be a bit of a chore, but worth the effort as they are reusable. Last but not least, be safe, enjoy the day, and have a very Happy Thanksgiving. Send questions or requests to Recyclelady7@gmail.com. Dear Recycle Lady is sponsored by the Greenbrier Recycling Center and Greenworks Recycling.
